After Cox’s informative address, members of the audience spoke with him about these topics:

- The Willow Street Bridge replacement: A resident asked that trees in the area be spared when construction takes place.
- Traffic on and near San Miguel Road: Several members of the audience complained about the volume of traffic, the unsafe driving they had noticed, and subsequent danger to others who are walking or riding in that area. Some suggested adding traffic calming devices to San Miguel Road, such as speed bumps, a stop sign or a traffic light. Cox responded that the County is willing to reevaluate this.
- Homeless encampment near Quarry Road – (Previously, two residents who attended a SVCA Board meeting described the encampment, saying that it was huge. They reported seeing makeshift houses, generators, and some unfriendly pit bulls, in addition to the people who had settled there.) At tonight’s meeting someone in attendance announced that notice has been served giving people thirty days to leave, which will be by August 19th.
- Someone else mentioned that there are about a hundred dead trees off the 125 toll road to the east and west of the ball field.

The meeting was adjourned.
